Big Win Hockey Strategy Guide This strategy guide is for bringing your team from all bronze to all platinum as soon as possible without spending any real money. If you want to buy an elite team, you can definitely do that. After using this hack, you can be sure that you will be one of the best players. So this strategy guide is to bring your team from all bronzes to all platinum as quickly as possible without having to spend any real money. If you want to buy an elite team, you can definitely do that. But if you like me and want to earn a cheap skate, or a team by really winning your way to the top, you've come to the right place. It's not the only way to go about this but I know it's been more than once because I've played through this. Big Win Hockey's bit of patience and strategy is a game of patience and a little bit of strategy. I won't say many strategies. You don't actually control players in the game or develop coaching strategies. You can only gear up as best you can, and you can play for yourself. Even the highest-rated teams can lose to the lowest-rated teams in this simulation engine. Accept this fact. Big Impact Card Big Impact Cards are one of the biggest ways to influence your game. Don't enter the game without a big shock card. I think there will be certain situations where this will be fine, but don't expect to win too many games without a big impact card. I did a little experiment and there are two teams with similar rankings, and if one team does not use a big impact card and the other team uses 3 cards, the team with 3 cards wins about 90% of the time. Which impact card should I use? Ok, this is a great question. I am constantly experimenting to find the best three cards. I don't think I've found them yet, but I have a suggestion. Puck luck, takeaways, tape-to-tape not only yielded me a big win rate, they are the most common cards within the cheapest bronze In my experience, these three cards get more success than some gold impact card combinations. But experimentation is welcome. If you find a magic combination, feel free to share it below! When it comes to card packs, there are definite strategies and opinions. When starting the game I recommend buying tons of bronze packs. You want contract cards and other essentials at first, but when you start buying bronze packs, you end up with a good stock pile of essentials. Once you stock up well, my strategy is to sell back most of the cards I have in the bronze pack and keep puck luck, takeaways, and tape-tapes. Now in my opinion silver packs are not a good deal, you should avoid them all. Silver players are fine, but when it comes to professional trophies, it's a little pointless because they're still experienced players. Send all the coins to the bronze pack and spend it on the gold pack when you start getting big bucks in trophy tournaments. I did a good part of winning gold in professional trophy tournaments. Once you've formed a team of Gold players, you can think of saving and buying the most expensive Platinum packs. The Platinum Player Pack guarantees 2 Platinum players. This pack seems really expensive, but if you can win the Pro 20 game trophy, you will win 200 big bucks, and you will be in the middle. Big Rush Pack This pack is very eye-catching in my opinion. Avoid them. Superstar players can only play 200 matches before they become obsolete. You can't resurrect them in retirement. After 200 games, the best you can do is to sell a coin card. The idea of this pack is that you blow your big dollars very quickly. That's what gaming companies want. That said, you can see why SUPERSTAR 105 level players are exciting for people. Ultimately it's your phone. It's not a great long-term strategy, but sometimes it's not about strategy, it's more about what's fun. Trophies play as many trophy tournament games as possible, but if your team is new, focus on amateur games. Lower-ranked teams performed well in amateur tournaments because they would be matched against teams close to the lower ranks. Professional tournaments offer bigger rewards, but you can match any ranked team. If your team is below average, you're seeing a lot of ranked teams. This can be tough, but you will only be rewarded with a big buck for completing every game within the tournament, and you can also sneak into the Big Bucks rewards if you are placed in the top five of the trophy tournament. Once you've formed a gold player team, you'll have more success in professional trophy tournaments. Collect higher level teams, higher success in professional tournaments, and more Big Bucks. In the 10-game professional tournament, 200 Big Bucks were selected for the big prize money of 100 Big Bucks and 20-game pro trophies. Event events are the latest events. Game. They can be fun and reward highly rated teams tremendously. If you're diligent enough to play all 50 games and your team can do well in tournaments without level restrictions, it can be really worth it. If your team fits this mold, take advantage of it. Money, money, money is a good thing for this game and money is very achievable. HotHead games give you tons of ways to get free big bucks and coins. One way to get bucks and coins is to keep playing! The more you play, the higher your level. After every level increase you get coins and big buck prizes. All the games you play you prizes with coins, but winning gives you more coins. The coin also has a reward for a 30-second ad video. There are many opportunities to get Big Bucks by downloading apps or participating in other promotional deals. I tend to stick to promotions that don't include money. You can simply get rewarded for downloading the free app. There is also the option to convert 1 big buck into 300 coins. This can sometimes help. Strategy - Overview enter all games with 3 big impact cards if possible. Puck luck, takeaway, tape-to-tape: try if you're looking for a good combination of cards. Buy a lot of bronze packs. Save bigger contracts (30-39 games), puck luck, takeaways and tape-to-tape. Almost all other sales. Play as many trophy tournaments as possible. Amateur trophy tournaments are great for novice teams because they are matched by teams with similar rankings. Professional trophy tournaments have higher rewards but are desirable because they can face elite ranked teams. When you start winning big bucks in tournaments, buy gold packs to earn gold players. Build a team of gold players for professional trophy tournaments. Don't change your approach, even if you have a gold player team. Puck luck, takeaways, tape-to-tape still work really well, and are cheap with bronze packs! With some luck you can win some pro trophies and get big big buck rewards. Save your big dollars. The next step is to buy a 400 Buck Platinum Player Pack. This pack is expensive but guarantees the best platinum player. Platinum players are valuable and will increase your team's ranking and achieve more success in professional trophy tournaments.
